TAFT EXPECTS PASSAGE TODAY OF LABOR BILL

Believes Approval To Come by Nightfall Despite Democratic Delay.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today he expects final congressional approval of the union-curbing labor bill by nightfall despite another critical barrage planned by a group of Democrats.

Taft also stood pat on his prediction that the bill will become law even if President Truman vetoes it. That means the Ohio senator is confident the senate will muster at least a two-thirds majority on passage and maintain the margin on a veto test, if it comes.

House Republican leaders have no doubt their chamber can overcome any presidential dissent. The house passed the compromise bill by a vote of 320 to 79, better than four to one.

Taft, chairman of the senate labor committeee had expected to get a final vote yesterday, but he abandoned hope when foes of the bill insisted on making lengthy speeches against it.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla), one of the critics, lined up for round two today. He told a reporter he was "good for an hour or so." Senators Murray (D-Mont) and Barkley (D-Ky) also planned to assail the bill.

The Florida senator said he and Murray intended to concentrate their attacks on changes made in the senate bill by the conference committee which adjusted differences between the separate measures passed by the two chambers.

Top Provisions Of Labor Bill Nearing White House Desk

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—These are principal provisions of the union-curb bill due to be passed today by the senate and sent to the White House for consideration by President Truman:

1. Authorization for the government to obtain injunctons to block "national paralysis" strikes, such as a coal or steel tie-up, the injunctions would remain in effect 80 days while the dispute was mediated.

2. A new national labor relations board set-up. The board would have five members instead of three as now. The general counsel, appointed by the President and subject to senate confirmation, would take over investigation and prosecution of unfair labor charges. Board members would have only judiciary powers—that is, they would hand down decisions.

3. A ban on the closed shop, under which employers can hire only union members. The more common union shop is permitted when a majority of workers vote for it. Union shop agreements allow the boss to hire non-union workers, but they must join up.

4. A prohibition against jurisdictional strikes and secondary boycotts. The NLRB could get injunctions to block them.

(A secondary boycott is a union effort to hit indirectly at an employer by forcing other employers to stop doing business with him. Jurisdictional strikes usually stem from scraps between unions as to which should do given work.)

5. A new federal mediation agency, independent of the labor department.

6. Health and welfare funds set up since Jan. 1, 1946, and administered solely by unions, are outlawed.

7. Parties to a collective bargaining contract must serve notice 60 days in advance of expiration of the pact if they wish to change its terms.

8. It would be an unfair labor practice for unions to keep non-striking workers from their jobs by mass picketing or through violence in picketing, the NLRB could get a court order against such practices.

9. Unions are prohibited from charging dues and initiation fees which the NLRB judges to be "excessive or discriminatory."

10. Unions are barred from forcing an employer to pay wages to men who do not work on a job or who are kept, at the union's insistence, on a standby basis.

11. A union would be denied collective bargaining rights if any of its officers could "reasonably be regarded" as a Communist or sympathalizer. The bill requires officers to file affidavits giving

D-Day Anniversary Normandy Visitors Awed by Crosses

By The Associated Press

CHERBOURG, June 6—Driving through the checkerboard pattern of hedgerows in Normandy on this third anniversary of O-Day, the breathtaking sight of endless rows of white crosses beneath the apple trees impresses one more than anything else.

When elements of five American divisions landed in Normandy—two by air and three by sea—on June 6, 1944, they opened one of the greatest, if costliest, military campaigns in American history.

Wresting the Cherbourg peninsula from the German forces that had vanquished Europe gave the Allies a major seaport and enough space to load the continent with a striking force that was powerful enough to sweep 250 miles to Paris within one month after the break through at St. Lo.

But the men who secured the Cherbourg peninsula had to do it the hard way, and nearly 90,000 of them paid with their blood. There are nine U. S. military cemeteries in Normandy where 28,462 white crosses mark the sleeping places of American soldier dead.

Capt. Marion Cole of Fostoria, O., who landed with the 82nd Airborne division, says paratrooper casualties were heavy because "night drops are always dangerous."

Cole, now assigned to the Normandy area in the American graves registration command, wasn't wounded on the drop, but was hit three weeks later while fighting in the line.

Buffalo Flour Mills Closed by Walkout

By The Associated Press

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6—Milling operations in this leading flour milling center of the nation neared a standstill today as supplies dwindled without promise of replenishment from strike-bound grain elevators.

A wage dispute between operators of the city's 20 elevators and 350 grain shovelers affiliated with the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL) still was without any sign of solution.

Forced to close last night were the International Flour Mills Company, the Russell-Miller Flour Milling Company and the [illegible] lo Flour Mill.

DEFENSE WITNESSES UP AT NEWARK TRIAL

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., June 6—Six defense witnesses take the witness stand today before the first degree murder trial of Ralph David Hoffer, 23-year-old dishonorably discharged war veteran, goes to a jury of eight men and four women.

Testimony yesterday, second day of the trial, was marked by defense efforts to prove that Hoffer accused of the slaying of 17-year-old Mrs Thelma Harger Anderson, had been subject to spells" since he was 12.

Mrs. Ethel Hoffer, the defendant's mother, told the court Hoffer had "spells" three or four times a year and would fall to the floor and "bite and cry."

Dorothy Renner, 18, of Newark, who admitted on the stand that she was the mother of Hoffer's four-year-old son, also testified that Ralph "had spells when he definitely was not himself." She later made a statement that three weeks ago she had married and that her name now was Dorothy Renner Palm.

Mrs. Hoffer said that the night Mrs. Anderson's battered body was found in a west Newark field, her son appeared in the doorway of her home covered with blood He fell to his knees, Mrs. Hoffer continued. While she washed him and put him to bed, he asked for "Bud Renner," she added.

"I have seen those spells so much I thought it was just imagination," she testified.

Before concluding its case, the prosecution introduced evidence purporting to show that Mrs. Anderson was killed because she questioned the paternity of the Renner girl's child.

Prosecutor Brandt S. Hervey also submitted a statement which quoted the defendant as admitting he killed Mrs. Anderson. Previously, in another alleged confession, Hoffer was said to have admitted he beat Mrs. Anderson, but not that he killed her.

Harding High School Graduates Largest Class in History at Garfield Park.

By JOHN BRYANS

Three hundred and twenty-six members of the seventy-fifth class to be graduated from high school in Marion received their diplomas at Harding High school commencement exercises last night at the pavilion in Garfield park. Included in the class were 65 veterans of World War II who completed their high school requirements and two youths still in the armed forces.

The pavilion was filled to capacity with relatives and friends of graduates, and a number stood to witness the ceremonies officially terminating high school studies for the largest graduating class in the history of the school.

Challenging graduates to use their capacity for learning to the fullest advantage, Dr. George S. Lackland, pastor of Indianola Methodist church in Columbus, told the audience that young men and women of today have an opportunity to contribute through their lives to a world in which it may be possible to live in peace. Calling for self-sacrifice, he declared "If all try to profit we will create such a vacuum that we will again see men walking the streets." This will happen, Dr. Lackland continued, unless we "live thoughtfully and cooperatively and on an international scale."

Stresses Intelligence

Dr. Lackland stressed living intellectually and spiritually as well as having a mere physical existence. "Start living today," he urged, pointing out that for many people the lure of the future or the memory of the past outshadow the need of the present. "Plenty of people play the game," he said, "but most of them never see it."

Expressing a hope that graduates would feel the debt they owe to those who have gone before, even for the basic discoveries which started human progress, Dr. Lackland concluded, "If we keep in mind the purpose of one world, it will be a peaceful world and a world of plenty."

Dr. Lackland, a noted youth worker in churches of college cities captured the attention of his audience with his humorous illustrations at the same time bringing full emphasis on his plea for cooperation in world unity. He was introduced by E. E. Holt, superintendent of schools.

Harding Orchestra Plays

Seniors entered the pavilion to the music of the Grand March from Aida by Verdi played by the Harding orchestra under the direction of Homer Huffman. Leading the processional were Jack Hoffman, vice president of the junior class, and Mary Gruber, treasurer. Rev. H. M. McAdow, pastor of Morgan Memorial Methodist church in Columbus and former pastor of Wesley Methodist church, gave the invocation

The musical portion of the program consisted of selections by the Harding orchestra and the a cappella choir of which L. G. Jones is director. The orchestra played the Weber Suite arranged by Clark and a number of melodies from "The Student Prince" by Sigmund Romberg. The choir

Herbert-Prodded Strip Mining Law Moves Nearer Enactment

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 6—A coal strip mining law for Ohio moved closer to enactment today under administration prodding.

Senate conservation committeemen recommended passage of a house-approved control measure by a vote of 8 to 0 last midnight with only minor changes. It passed the house 88 to 34 on May 27.

The senate committee action followed three hours of tedious debate after a number of members visited Gov. Thomas J. Herbert's office or were contacted by his secretary.

The committee reduced from $100 an acre to $50 the maximum amount operators must spend for reforesting "stripped" land but left intact a requirement for posting minimum bond of $1,000 to guarantee compliance.

Undisturbed were provisions requiring operators to level spoilbank peaks and ridges to a width of 15 feet across the top, cover exposed unmined coal with three feet of earth and seal off underground breakthroughs.

Owner's Plea Unheeded

Pleas of James Hislop of Columbus, vice president of the Hanna Coal Co., that the proposal was unconstitutional and that spoilbank leveling should not be required went unheeded.

Most changes in the bill were moved by Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (R-Summit) and seconded by Sen. Clingan Jackson (D-Mahoning), authors of separate strip mine regulatory measures which failed to come out of committee.

Joining Sheppard and Jackson in supporting the house bill were Sens. C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens), committee chairman, Joseph R. Nutt Jr. (R-Cuyahoga) C. J. Powell (R-Clark) and Roscoe R. Walcutt (R-Franklin).

Participating in the debate were three house co-sponsors of the measure, Reps. Ray M. White (D-Holmes), Kenneth F. Berry (R-Coshocton) and Robert J. Anglin (R-Jefferson). The other co-sponsor is Rep. Emerson C. Wagner (R-Perry).

Recommends Improvements

The house finance committee recommended that the state spend $63,672,165 for national improvements during the biennium. A spokesman said that if money obligated in all pending legislation was appropriated, Ohio's $161,000,000 surplus would be reduced to about $50,000,000.

Both houses held extra sessions today to get a running start in the race to finish work June 14.

The house yesterday passed 99 to 14 a senate bill to permit municipalities to condemn property for off-street automobile parking lots which would be sold to private interests who would operate them for at least five years.

The senate voted 25 to 10 to place the state liquor director's rule-making powers in the board of liquor control.

The board would be enlarged from four to five members with six, instead of four-year terms, and their salaries increased from $4,500 to $10,000 annually.

Pay Boost for Director

The liquor director would receive a pay boost from $6,500 to $9,000.

Sen. Kyle F. Brooks (R-Hamilton), a member of the special senate liquor investigating committee which drafted the measure, said overwork had made one board member so ill he might not recover. He referred to William Hess of Cincinnati.

Cases dealing with private club liquor licenses fraudulently obtained during closing days of the previous administration caused much of the board's extra work recently, Brooks asserted.

The proposed pay increases and other changes were designed to take operation of the liquor department out of politics, he added.

Senate conferees named to compose differences with the house over the Daniels-Cramer school were Sens. Albert L. Daniels (R-Highland) and Virgil E. Cramer (R-Lucas), co-sponsors of the measure, and C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens). The three house members are yet to be appointed.

Approve Fee Increases

The senate completed passage of a measure allowing increases from $250 to $350 in payments for court-appointed attorneys defending indigents charged with manslaughter, and from $50 to $100 for other felonies.

NEW CONTRACT SIGNED HERE

Shovel Co. and Union Reach Agreement on Manufacturing Employes' Rate.

A new two-year contract covering wages, hours and working conditions for nearly 1,800 manufacturing employes of Marion Power Shovel Co. was signed this morning at the company's offices on West Center street.

Hourly wage rates were adjusted upward and now compare favorably with those throughout the industry, spokesmen for both the company and Local No. 1949, United Steelworkers of America, said.

Another important change was liberalization of the company's vacation plan. These changes include a one-week plant shutdown period for the week following the July 4 holiday and week-end, and provision for three-week vacation periods for employes with 25 or more years of continuous service with the company.

A bonus plan recently set up by the company was incorporated into the new contract.

The contract is effective as of June 1 this year. It was ratified by the membership of the union at a meeting Tuesday afternoon, June 3, in The Star auditorium. In addition to the changes mentioned above the contract contains the usual standard clauses. The contract is for a two-year period, with provision for opening a discussion next year regarding wage rates.

Signing the contract today for the union were Ed Parr, president, and Howard Rizer, financial secretary, of Local 1949 and Henry Johnson of Marion, field representative for the United Steelworkers of America. John M. Demarest, vice president and works manager, signed for the company.

INTERFERENCE LAID TO RUSSIA

Protest to Moscow Threatens American Appeal to UN Council.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—With President Truman's approval the state department has drafted a hotly worded note to Russia, accusing the Soviets of illegal interference in Hungarian affairs. The note threatens an appeal to the United Nations.

This was learned from American diplomatic officials who said that the note is one thing the President presumably had in mind when he asserted yesterday that the United States would not stand idly by in Hungary. The note was said to make these four principal points:

1. Directly charges Soviet authorities in Hungary with participation in the ousting of Premier Ferenc Nagy and other cabinet officers—the move by which pro-Soviets began to take over the government—and asserts this is a serious interference in the affairs of Hungary.

Broke Yalta Terms

2. Charges the Soviets with breaking the terms of the Yalta agreement respecting great power protection and development of political independence in ex-enemy small nations.

3. Proposes a joint American-Soviet British investigation of the Hungarian situation.

4. Warns that unless satisfaction is forthcoming, beginning with the reply from the Soviet Union, the United States may take the case to the United Nations.

Method Not Decided

On the latter point, it has not yet been decided at the state department whether it would be better to appeal to the security council or the UN general assembly. The council is in session at frequent intervals but Russia has a veto there. The assembly does not meet until September in New York.

The note was completed at the state department and approved in substance by President Truman yesterday.

The draft has not been formally completed and sent to Moscow because it is still under study by various diplomatic officials.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Backache

When a patient with backache goes to a doctor, he wants his pain relieved What he sometimes does not realize is that this cannot be done without a lot of preliminary tests and questions.

These are necessary because backache is only a symptom and one which is connected with so many different disorders that only the most careful and complete study will reveal the underlying cause Until this is found any attempt at treatment is like trying to hit a bull's eye in a blackout. The doctor must know the history of the pain, that is, when it started, whether an injury produced it, whether the pain passes from one part of the back to another, whether it is made worse by sneezing or coughing, and whether it is more severe at one time of the day than at another, or gets worse on cold, wet days

The most common cause of sudden backache is some disorder which produces fever, such as influenza or a cold However, such backache usually clears up when these infections disappear

A break or a dislocation in the bones of the spine will, of course, produce pain in the back These conditions are as a rule easy to diagnose by means of an X-ray of the spine and a history of some injury Another cause for backache is osteomyelitis of one of the bones in the spine or an infection of the bone marrow. In this disorder, fever is always present An X-ray is helpful in making the diagnosis This condition is treated surgically.

Tuberculosis of the spine does not occur as frequently as it used to The treatment of this condition consists of the use of a cast to keep the spine immovable, or it may be accomplished in other ways

There is a joint between the lower part of the spine and the hip known as the sacro-iliac joint A sprain may occur in this area when the patient stoops over to lift some heavy object In such instances, there is tenderness over the joint.

In treating this disorder Dr Calvin C Torrance of Jamestown, N Y, suggests strapping with adhesive tape. After the acute period has passed, a supporting belt may be worn Such belts are put on before the patient gets out of bed in the morning and are laced as tightly as possible.

Injury or inflammation of the sciatic nerve which runs down the back part of the leg may cause muscle spasm in the back as well as pain down the leg Defects of the spine present at birth may cause backache in some cases Dr Torrance has found that treatment of these patients by injection of thiamin or vitamin B-1 into a vein often gives prompt relief An effort should also be made to find infections in the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere in the body, and if any are found they should be cleared up

There are other causes for backache such as damage to the cartilage disks between the bones of the spine arthritis of the spine, and disturbances within the abdomen With these many causes for backache, it is evident that the problem of finding the source is not always a simple one The backache should not be neglected for it may go from bad to worse

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home Make this recipe yourself It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Europe Urged Toward Unity

Marshall Pledges U. S. Support to Countries Working for Reconstruction.

By The Associated Press

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 6 — Secretary of State Marshall yesterday called upon the countries of Europe to work out together a great new program of reconstruction.

He promised American economic assistance and support "so far as it may be practical."

And at the same time he warned the United States to oppose "any government which maneuvers to block the recovery of other countries."

U. S. To Oppose Tyrants

Without naming any foreign country or party, Marshall declared in an address at a meeting of the Harvard Alumni association:

"Governments, political parties or groups which seek to perpetuate human misery in order to profit therefrom politically or otherwise will encounter the opposition of the United States."

Marshall did not specify how much money the American government intends to make available but said Europe must have "substantial additional help" during the next three to four years or "face economic, social and political deterioration of a very grave character."

New Approach Tried

The cabinet officer's call for a joint effort by European countries to develop a reconstruction blueprint represented the first step of the new state department approach to the problem of world wide rehabilitation.

Marshall said United States financial and other help "must not be on a piece-meal basis as various crises develop. Any assistance that this government may render in the future should provide a cure rather than a mere palliative."

The secretary declared "our policy is directed not against any country or doctrine but against hunger, poverty, desperation and chaos.

THE NATION TODAY

United States and Argentina Bury Hatchet After Long Row

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, June 6—The United States and Argentina finally are burying the hatchet. The dispute has been long and involved.

Until this week, this country's main complaint against Argentina has been this:

It didn't keep its word that it would get rid of the Nazis who had found refuge there and still were up to Nazi tricks.

James Marlow

Here's a simplified story of the dispute. It began in 1942, after the U. S. had entered World War II.

In that year all the American republics, including Argentina, agreed to get rid of any Nazis within their borders.

All of them, except Argentina, went further. They broke off relations with the Axis. Not Argentina.

Soon the then secretary of state, Cordell Hull, was denouncing Argentina as a "traitor to the Allied cause." He said the country was loaded with Nazi agents.

Finally Go To War

Finally in 1945, under constant prodding by the other American republics, Argentina declared war on the Axis.

But this wasn't done until just before Germany and Japan fell.

And in 1945 all the American republics, including Argentina, agreed to get rid of any "remaining" Nazis.

In that same year of 1945 Spruille Braden was sent to Argentina as American ambassador. He didn't like what he saw. It was this:

Juan D. Peron, an army officer, was boss of the country. He was part of a military clique which overthrew the legitimate government in 1943.

Braden said Argentina, under Peron, was anti democratic. He said it was a nest of Nazi agents.

Braden Moved Upstairs

Braden was brought back here and given a stronger spot for hammering away at Argentina. He was made assistant secretary of state for Latin America.

He laid down, and stuck to, a tough-toward-Argentina policy. He banged away at Peron for letting Nazis stay there.

He kept this up even though Peron was chosen president by the people in a regular election early in 1946.

A few days before the election the state department issued an attack on Peron and his government. This wasn't intended to help Peron.

The attack was in the form of a "blue book." It was full of Nazi documents captured by the American army in Germany.

Proof of Complicity

The state department said those documents furnished "proof positive" of Argentine "complicity with the enemy."

The "blue book" charged the Nazis in Argentina had built up a carbon copy of the war machine built by the Nazis in Germany.

All this time the U. S. was attacking Argentina for not keeping its promises of 1942 and 1945 to get rid of the Nazis.

Shortly after issuing the "blue book" in 1946, the U. S. sent George Messersmith to Argentina as American ambassador.

War began between him and Braden. Messersmith wanted a softer policy toward Argentina. Braden would have none of it.

Deporting 60 Germans

Now the Argentine government has announced it has deported to Germany 60 top Nazis and is investigating 69 others.

As soon as it heard this, the U. S. started the wheels in motion for getting all the American republics together, including Argentina.

We've postponed ever since 1945—because Argentina didn't get rid of the Nazis—a meeting of all American republicans to draw up a mutual defense agreement.

This kind of agreement would protect Western Hemisphere countries from attacks by one another or outsiders. Now we're going to start talks with the others. All may meet within a couple of months.

As if to clear the decks for all this, Braden quit Wednesday and Messersmith quit Thursday.

Now the U. S. can set up a new staff—and a new policy—for dealing with Argentina.

Engineers To Hear Cleveland Speaker

Davis, consulting engineer of the Lincoln Electric company of Cleveland, will be principal speaker at a dinner meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers at Hotel Harding Monday June 9, at 6:30. Former Marion Girl In Graduation Class

Miss Edith Arleen Shadaker, daughter of L. W. Shadaker, Marion police officer, was graduated from the Huntington High school at Huntington, W. Va., in exercises held May 27. She plans to enter the City hospital training school for nurses at Cleveland this fall.

Miss Shadaker had the unique exerience of being in the audience when her father received his high school diploma at the graduation exercises of Harding High school June 4, 1937. At that time she was a pupil in the third grade at the Olney avenue school.

Mr. Shadaker had resumed his high school studies several years after he had left school and while he was employed at the Erie roundhouse. He gave up his studies at Staunton Military academy, Staunton, Va. upon the death of his father in the fall of 1925 following the completion of his freshman year.

Peron Faced By Opposition

Argentine Head Attacked for Policies of Friendship with U. S.

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, June 6—President Juan D. Peron was confronted today by new opposition at home, apparently because of policies he adopted to restore friendly relations between Argentina and the United States.

An unidentified voice mysteriously broke into a nationwide presidential broadcast last night with the shout: "Death to Peron," and there were indications that the interrupter was an extreme Argentine nationalist affronted by the resignation Wednesday of Federal Police Chief Juan Filomeno Velazco.

Velazco's resignation, under circumstances strongly suggesting that he had been dismissed on Peron's order, previously had been interpreted as a measure designed to cement friendship between Argentina and the United States. Velazco was known as a leader of extreme Argentine nationalists who had expressed Axis sympathies during the war.

Peron was speaking at a farewell celebration for his wife, Eva Duarte Peron, who is heading for a tour of Europe, when his speech was cut off and an unidentified voice said:

"Very good, General. We here denounce those who proclaim themselves supporters of a false social justice. We call upon Argentines.

"Workers! We are the same who on other occasions watched over Argentine dignity.

"We return to say what the people want to know and what the cynical Peron does not want to know. Death to Peron! Peron, Peron, Peron—Death!"

The phrase "watched over Argentine dignity" was taken by many to be an identification of the speaker with the Argentine nationalist cause, since the nationalists made a fetish of "Argentine dignity" in maintaining neutrality during the war and even of siding with the Axis.

TIMKEN OFFERS WORKERS SURGICAL BENEFITS PLAN

15,000 Employes in 5 Ohio Cities Affected by Proposal.

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 6 — The 15,000 Ohio factory employes of Timken Roller Bearing Co. today had an offer from the company to insure the workers and their families for surgical benefits under a plan which the concern estimated would cost $500,000 a year.

Vice President W. Robert Timken made the offer in a letter to officials of the CIO-United Steel Workers, who represent Timken production and maintenance works in Canton, Columbus, Wooster, Mt. Vernon and Zanesville.

District Union Director I. W. Abel said the union previously had presented the company with a new contract proposal which included a union plan for surgical benefits.

Roosevelt Leaves Estate Of Nearly Two Millions

By The Associated Press

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 6 — The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt left a gross estate of $1,943,885.86 at his death April 12, 1945, the first executors' accounting revealed today at its filing in Dutchess county surrogate's court.

Of the total, $994,155.19 was received from the estate of his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt.

The accounting, which covered the period from April 12, 1945, to April 30, 1947, disclosed that the estate had dwindled to $1,438,940.09 by the latter date through payment of debts and other expenses.

The executors are James Roosevelt, the late President's eldest son; Basil O'Connor of New York, his former law partner; and Henry T. Hackett of Poughkeepsie.

SPECIALLY EQUIPPED BURGLARS ARRESTED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 6—Two men and a woman who operated with a specially equipped automobile were held today for questioning about burglaries perpetrated on a statewide scale.

Detective Stacy Hall and Sgt. Lester Bauman said the trio admitted 10 burglaries in which loot valued at $15,000 was taken from Columbus hardware and appliance stores.

The three gave their names as Pius P. Green, 36; his wife Anna, 26, and Lawrence Spangler, 36, all of Columbus.

Their automobile, the officers said, had a special compartment built to replace the back seat and to carry merchandise.

Detective Capt. Glenn Hoffman said "we believe this is a statewide and possibly an interstate gang. After committing a burglary here they unloaded the loot at a central point and reloaded later for distribution to other parts of the state and bordering states."

Hoffman said $4,000 worth of stolen merchandise was recovered here after Spanglar was arrested at Newark, yesterday by Columbus Detective Charles Connor and Detective Leslie Lawhorne of the Newark force. The Greens were taken into custody in Columbus.

Hoffman said Ohio police had been trying to smash an apparent thieving ring that had stolen more than $50,000 from sporting goods, electrical appliance, hardware and furniture stores in recent months.

AIR FORCES ORDER CHECK ON C-54'S

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—The Army's air transport command announced today it has temporarily grounded its world-wide fleet of 194 C-54 Douglas Skymasters as a "safety precaution" to permit inspection of tail fittings.

The action was taken yesterday, an ATC statement said, after routine field reports indicated that bolts and vertical stabilizer attachment fittings were "loose and sheared in some C-54's." The planes are expected to be back in service within a couple of days.

"The measure is a routine Army Air Force flying safety precaution inasmuch as no ATC C-54's have been found in such condition in regular inspections," the statement said, adding that the fleet has flown 749,000,000 miles in the last year and a half.

A C-54 converted for Eastern Airlines service crashed last week at Port Deposit, Md., with a loss of 53 lives. Chairman James M. Landis of the civil aeronautics board, has reported that structural failure in the tail assembly was "clearly indicated," although the exact cause has not been determined.

In response to a question, an ATC officer told a reporter that as far as he knew there was no direct connection between the Port Deposit disaster and the order grounding the ATC C-54's.

CEMETERY EMPLOYS NON-UNION WORKERS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 6—Officials of strikebound Lake View cemetery hired additional non-union workers today to perform what a common pleas judge declared in banning picketing by union gravediggers is the "sacred obligation" of burying the dead.

Common Pleas Judge Frank J. Merrick yesterday granted a temporary injunction prohibiting members of the AFL-Cemetery, Landscape and Nursery Workers union from picketing the Lake View site where 117 bodies are held in a chapel.

REV. RAYMOND M. BROWN DIES AT SHARONVILLE, O.

Priest Was Brother of Marion Resident.

Rev. Raymond M. Brown, 52, pastor of St. Michael's Catholic church at Sharonville, O., and brother of W. J. Brown of 333 South Grand avenue, died Thursday afternoon in the parish house at that place. Ill for some time with a heart ailment, he had improved after spending several weeks in Good Samaritan hospital at Cincinnati, earlier this year, and last month celebrated his silver jubilee as a priest. Because of the condition of his health the observance of the anniversary was a quiet one.

He celebrated mass and had conducted a children's service in his church Thursday morning. With his brother, W. J. Brown, manager of the Kresge 5c to $1 store here, and his family, he was planning to leave next Monday on a vacation trip to Michigan.

Rev. Brown was well known here, having visited his brother and family on many occasions. His last visit was last fall. Born at Lorain, O., he was ordained at Mount St. Mary of the West in Cincinnati on May 7, 1922. He became pastor of St. Joseph's church in Springfield in August the same year and later was pastor of St. Augustine's church in Jamestown, St. Francis de Sales church in Lebanon and Our Lady of Seven Dolors church in Monroe before assuming the pastorate of the Sharonville church last year.

Five brothers, Edward and Robert of Columbus, William of Marion, Leo of Detroit and Joseph of London, and two sisters, Misses Agnes and Mary Brown of Columbus, survive.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at Sharonville after which the body will be taken to London to lie in state at the Connors funeral home from 2 to 4 p. m.

"GOOD FELLOW" SLAPPED

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 6—A Berea, O., man said in a suit today he didn't think he had a punch in the eye coming, especially since he was trying to be a good fellow.

William B. McElroy said today he rammed his automobile into a parked car April 28 and waited for the owner to come out of church so that he could report the damage.

He said the owner, Clarence Schneider of Strongsville, O., demanded $10 on the spot, twisted his arm and punched him, inflicting permanent injuries to his eye and teeth.

McElroy filed a $15,000 damage suit in common pleas court against Schneider.

Graduating Co-Ed To Get Dean's Kiss Or Sparks Will Fly

By The Associated Press

MARIETTA, O., June 6 — If sedate W. Bay Irvine, dean of Marietta college plants an undignified buss on a certain graduate during commencement exercises Sunday nobody will be surprised.

Fact of the matter is, that if Dean Irvine absent-mindedly forgets to kiss he's likely to find himself in the campus doghouse because the co-ed in question is Mrs. W. Bay Irvine.

She's graduating with a "B" average as one of 17 women among the 79 members of Marietta's class of 1947. Majoring in the foreign languages with English and music as minor subjects, Mrs. Irvine will be realizing a life's ambition when her hubby hands her the sheepskin.

Although they've been married 30 years, Mrs. Irvine thinks the dean was tougher on her as a student than he was on any of Marietta's professors.

"The dean allowed me only seven hours of credit for my teacher training courses," she said. "He insisted I get my written work in on time and that I live up to every requirement.

"He made sure I didn't take advantage of being older or of being the dean's wife — to the point that it got monotonous."

"His big ambition," she said, "has been to have me sent to his office but I never gave him that satisfaction."

Kiwanis Hears Talk By Dr. C. E. Turley

Dr. C. E. Turley of Columbus, a former pastor of Epworth Methodist church, spoke to the Kiwanis club Thursday in its weekly luncheon meeting at Hotel Harding. A former member of the Marion Kiwanis club, Dr. Turley spoke on "True Builders of the Republic."

He gave the history and told of the significance of the Declaration of Independence. He spoke of several presidents of the United States, reviewed their term of office, and named an event in the administration of each which made for a better republic. Dr. Turley was introduced by John H. Clark.

Awards for perfect attendance were presented by Charles Bloomingdale, a member of the attendance committee. The attendance fabs were presented to A. C. May, four years; Max Birnbaum, five years; E. Paul Bachman, Cutler A. McGrew and John F. Smith, six years; and L. Otis Porter, eight years.

Ralph Shick and Zez Stout were enrolled as members of the club.

An announcement was made of a ladies' night party June 19, with John H. Clark in charge of arrangements.

Guests were Ross Jump of Marion and Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of Epworth Methodist church.

Modern War Declared On Ohio Highway Weeds

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 6 — Ohio's highway department has declared modern war on weeds.

Bids will be opened June 16, said C. R. Leavens, department purchasing agent, on about 2,000 gallons of 2-4-D, a war developed weed-killer, effective against dandelions and plantain.

The state, Leavens said, would use the new weed killer under the direction of Dallas Dupre Jr., department landscape architect, who intends to make several hundred thousand gallons of spray from the 2,000 gallons of 2-4-D.

Only Lima, Toledo, Ashland, Delaware, Chillicothe, New Philadelphia, and Cleveland divisions will be treated with the weed-killer this year. If it does the job, the department will forego the present system of mowing roadside weeds with tractors in 1948.

U. S. APPROVES ALL MINOR AXIS PACTS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—United States approval of the satellite peace treaties shifted to Soviet Russia today sole responsibility for any prolonged delay in pulling Red Army occupation troops out of Hungary.

The senate ratification action also promised to strengthen this country's hand in dealing with the Soviet-supported Communist coup in Hungary which President Truman denounced as an outrage.

But despite Mr. Truman's bitter words at his news conference yesterday, officials expect any immediate effects to be slight.

A probable angry protest to Moscow, further economic steps at Budapest and a possible move to carry the whole case to the United Nations remain the chief American weapons.

The peace treaties — which zipped through the actual ratification test after two days of hot debate—provide for the withdrawal of Allied occupation troops from Italy, Romania and Bulgaria as well as Hungary within 90 days after the Big Four complete the ratification process.

Britain already has ratified and France, like the United States, has taken the principal steps toward complying with treaty procedures.

SPRUILLE BRADEN'S resignation as assistant secretary of state is a guidepost on the road to somewhere—a guidepost as conspicuous as Mr. Braden, who weighs upward of 300 pounds stripped for diplomatic action.

Unfortunately, it isn't known where the road to somewhere is leading to, except in the general direction of South America. One tries to fit together the bits and pieces of evidence . . Undersecretary of State Acheson must leave the state department because of money, Assistant Secretary Braden must leave to be with his family, James F. Byrnes left because of his health, suddenly everything is love and kisses between Argentina and the United States. President Peron is a guardian of the democratic way of life, there is friendly talk about furnishing arms to South America etc.

In some countries this would be the signal for the press to gush that everything in Argentina is lovely. In the United States it's the signal to declare that high jinks are afoot in the state department and the whole government is about to do a one, two, three, glide, for reasons that remain to be discovered.

It Wasn't Such a Hot Idea

THE third-party mischief making Democrats sweat goes back inside their own party to some elegant masterminding by the Roosevelt faction after the 1932 election.

It was decided then that the soreheads deserting the discredited Republicans should be taken in by the Democratic party and Harold Ickes and Wallace were chosen as symbolic refugees. They were seated at the party table, at the expense of regular Democrats, and toadied to publicly for the effect on dissidents in all parts of the country. It was a shrewd stroke of business. Everybody admired it, except regular Democrats who wondered how deep the loyalty of a Wallace would be in an acid test.

Wallace, Ickes and the followers who went for their swamp-water cures eventually had dreams of being bigger than the Democratic party, though their purges and palace revolutions never quite came off, but by 1944 they were stout enough to dream of capturing the presidency by merely continuing Wallace in the vice presidency and waiting for Franklin D. Roosevelt to die. That scheme didn't come off either, and it marked the end. Things never were the same thereafter. Today, they are distinctly different. Wallace, Ickes and all the others have turned on their "friends."

Mr. Truman came by his third-party trouble honestly. It belongs in the family, one of the most unwelcome chickens that ever came home to roost on the perch of political expediency—a memorial to an era in which Tommy the Cork used to say the main idea was "hit 'em in the jugular."

Hague Steps Down

RESIGNATION of Frank Hague as Jersey City's mayor isn't a capitulation by that city's political boss. It might best be described as a retreat to a previously-prepared position. After all, he is 71 and a millionaire. The boss will leave his nephew in charge but will be available for advice.

Hague's power has been declining for years and possibly the collapse of the McFeely dynasty in Hoboken, a subdivision of the Hague empire, suggested the time might be appropriate for a graceful withdrawal. With these new-fangled voting machines, which Hoboken used for the first time when the McFeelys were defeated, political bosses can't be too sure when the vote will be delivered.

Mayor Hague will be missed by many, but principally by those who held him up as an example of the political chieftain who makes a city his oyster and sedulously cultivates that oyster for pearls.

Crash Landing Ahead

THE ARMY asked $400,000,000 for 1,700 new aircraft for next year. The budget bureau approved an allocation for 932, but a revised cost estimate cut that figure to 850. Now the house appropriations committee has slashed that figure to 561.

Where does that leave the American aviation industry, which only a few years ago was turning out planes at a 96,000-a-year clip?

It's a serious situation the 14 major aircraft companies face. Commercial airline orders have passed their peak and by next year the carriers will have all the planes they need for a long time. Last year only 1,330 military planes were ordered. This year combined Army, Navy and foreign orders won't exceed 1,150. Major General Oliver P. Echols, Aircraft Industries association president, says a minimum production of 3,000 to 5,000 planes annually is necessary for the industry's survival.

Lean days are ahead for the aircraft industry. General Echols recommends legislation be revised to allow a five-year military plane production program so that the industry may plan ahead. He also recommends an air policy board to make recommendations to congress. What also will have to be part of the industry's postwar program are retrenchment and consolidations—and plenty of both.

The Crystal Ball Again

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, June 6 — For what it may be worth, the President's economic seers are reporting fewer clouds in their crystal balls than two months ago. The great price scare, which led to the emergency cabinet meeting on prices and the President's subsequent warnings to business, has begun to slacken off rather noticeably. No one is climbing on to rooftops to cheer the achievement of a "permanently high plateau"; but on the other hand, the ominous word, "depression," is no longer much heard.

The new line of the official augurs is that we are now entering a period of healthy economic readjustment. It will be marked, they admit, by fairly sharp declines in some prices now violently out of balance, as in the construction industry. But although they expect it to be accompanied by some temporary unemployment, they voice the hope that the readjustment period will not be long-lasting, and will leave the country ready to go forward economically with renewed vigor.

An interesting comparison is being used by one of the ablest and most authoritative of those who consult the business statistics (and, one sometimes suspects, the livers of sheep) in order to foretell the future for the administration. The current falling off of employment, the sharp cuts in all luxury businesses, and the decline in construction work are said, by this particular soothsayer, to resemble those first nagging aches which announce an attack of grippe.

No Pneumonia, He Says

There will be, he says, a short bout of grippe to follow; but the grippe will not turn into pneumonia, and as is sometimes the case with sharply overstrained individuals, it is also predicted that the patient will leave the sickroom all the better for the enforced confinement. This source, and the many other government economists who agree with him, quote with approval a recent statement by Randolph Burgess, vice chairman of the National City Bank in New York, to a group of London business men.

"The important new opinion," said Mr. Burgess, "is that our readjustment — our recession — is likely to be brief and mild. That is because it has been so widely foreseen and planned for by business and banking."

To this mood of restrained optimism, the government seers make only three qualifications, all of them obviously sensible. Serious trouble can arise, they predict, in the following eventualities:

1. If there is a bad crop failure in the United States, world food shortages will continue. Food prices here will then rise, and renewed labor trouble will follow. In this connection, the recent snows in the West are extremely bad news.

2. If there is a coal strike at the end of June, the American production line will be halted, with catastrophic results.

3. If the dollar exchange shortage abroad causes sharp reductions in American exports, coinciding with the domestic recession, the recession can conceivably be transformed into a severe downward spiral.

The Money Situation

Of these three eventualities, the third is a present the most interesting. Few Americans yet grasp the reality of this danger.

Canada, for example, was reported a few months ago to have a backlog of only $600 millions of dollar exchange, and to be losing dollars to the United States at the rate of $50 millions monthly. If this continues, Canada must obviously impose severe restrictions on American imports, in order to conserve any kind of reasonable working balance of dollars. Mexico is in trouble, and the recent credit of $100 millions will not help for very long. Representatives of the Italian government are here in Washington pleading for $150 millions to carry them through to the end of this year—after which their cupboard will be completely bare. Sweden has already restricted imports, and so have most of the other western European countries. Even the rich Argentine evidently sees a dollar shortage ahead as a result of selling in Europe and buying here. Dictator Peron's representatives are now quietly seeking a $250 million credit from private banks in New York.

All this has meaning to every American business man and worker. We are now selling abroad at the rate of between $14 and $15 billions annually. And the government economists figure roughly that each cut of $1 billion in exports means unemployment for one million men and women in the U. S. The grim effects of a series of such cuts, coming in the middle of a difficult readjustment,, can easily be imagined.

Because of the illness of Paul Mallon, his Washington column which regularly appears in this space, is omitted today.

The Rubber Shortage Seems To Be Over

Police last week took a 7-foot slingshot from a Saginaw, Michigan youth.

That would have seemed more like a job for the UN disarmament committee.

Even in the atomic era, a 7-foot sling shot is a major weapon. When does juvenile delinquency attain maturity?

A 7-foot slingshot is a homemade howitzer. Let's have no more of this talk, please, about the younger generation going soft.

Britain would have paid well for such a formidable weapon during the blitz, when its anti-aircraft batteries were few.

This is a day of ever-increasing magnitudes, with even slingshots being made in the large, economy size.

Of course, there's this to be said for the lad who had it . . . . they couldn't rightly charge him with carrying concealed weapons.

Women Voters at Peak

By JANE EADS

FROM where it sits, the National League of Women Voters says it looks as if women are more interested in world affairs than at any time in history.

The League, a nonpartisan organization, was formed at Chicago in 1920 at the Victory Convention of the National Woman's Suffrage Association. It now boasts 70,432 active, dues-paying members.

This represents a 13 per cent increase over last year, when a 25 per cent increase was reported for the two previous years.

The League says its program is to "promote political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government." It has 542 local leagues in 35 states and the District of Columbia.

In addition, 10 provisional leagues in three other states—Idaho, Mississippi and Virginia—are about to be taken into the fold.

At its convention in Kansas City last year the League chose for concerted action such issues as:

1. International control of atomic energy through the United Nations; domestic control under a civilian agency, which it says would insure full development in the public interest.

2. Acceptance by the United States of its full share of responsibility for strengthening the United Nations.

3. Government economic policies which prevent inflation and deflation and stimulate maximum production and employment.

4. Strengthening the organization and procedures of Congress.

Leagues all over the country are working to get the public to think in terms of economics.

The Michigan League is working for better child labor laws in this session of its legislature. Missouri is working for a minimum wage law. Taxation is a leading item on many League programs.

Housing also is a problem that many leagues are attacking on the local, state and national level. The Wagner-Ellender-Taft bill had the active support of the League in the 79th Congress, and any bill similar to it will be supported in this Congress, according to the League.

Pay-As-You-Go Cities

USE OF "pay-as-you-go" financing of capital improvements by cities is expected to double this year, according to reports cited by the International City Managers' Association.

A survey of cities over 10,000 population has revealed that 243 cities financed capital improvements last year in whole or part with current revenues. City officials of 459 cities, marking a 90 per cent increase, report they intend to finance at least some of this year's capital improvements on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Out of a total of 677 cities, 116 said they "plan to finance all capital projects from current revenues," while 343 cities said they intend to finance major improvements partly from bonds and partly from current revenues. The remaining 174 cities plan to finance capital projects from bond issues only.

Detroit headed the list of pay-as-you-go cities last year, investing $15,600,000 of current revenues in capital improvements. Detroit is one of seven cities over 100,000 planning to finance its scheduled capital projects on a pay-as-you-go basis. Others are Cambridge, Canton, Grand Rapids, Hartford, Syracuse and Washington, D. C.

The Association observes that pay-as-you-go plans are generally preferable to financing works projects through public borrowing. Many cities financing major works by bonds following World War I were forced to curtail services during depression years to keep up debt service and retirement charges. Interest on bonds often boosted cost of these projects to taxpayers to nearly twice the actual expenditures for construction.

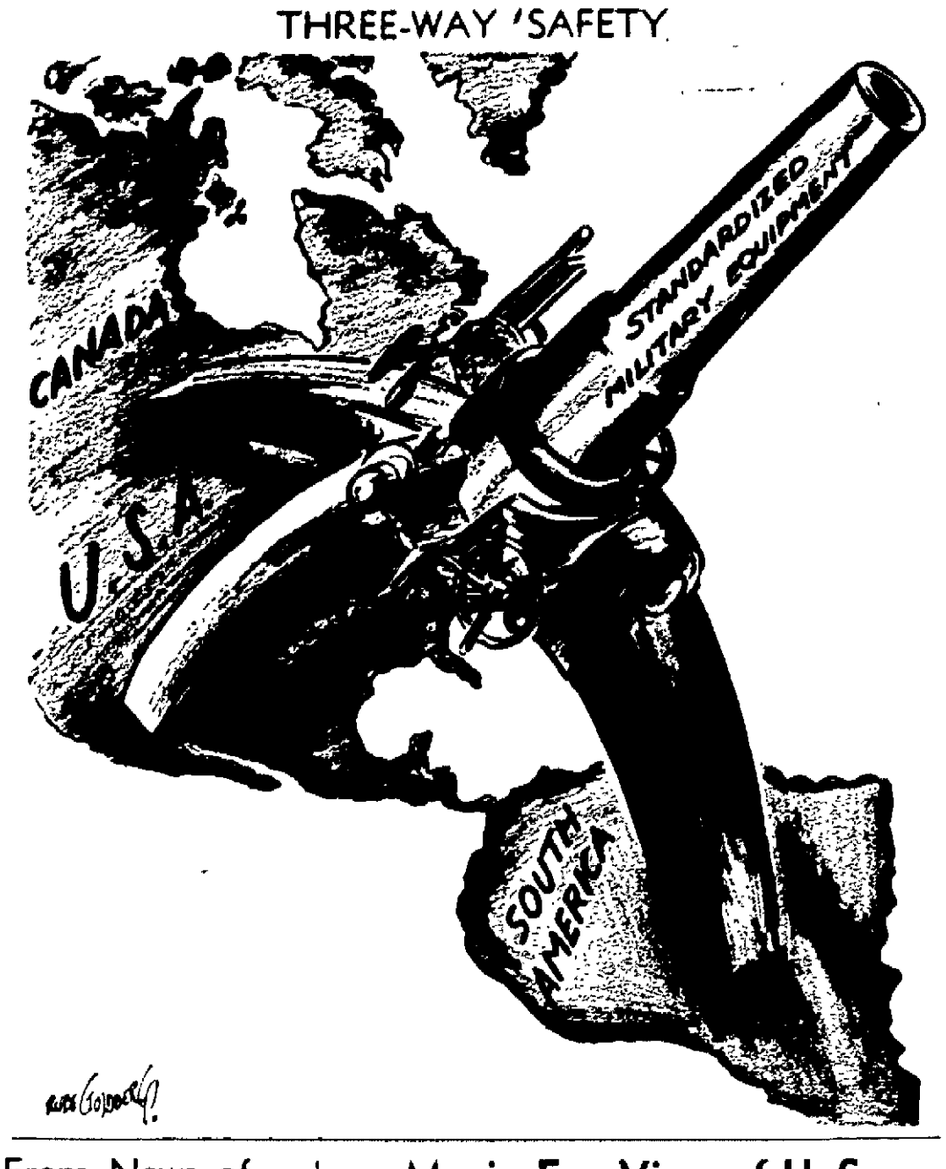
THREE-WAY 'SAFETY



From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, June 6, 1937.

Naval observers and National Geographic society astronomers stood vigil over delicate intruments installed on a tiny island in the mid-Pacific, awaiting the total eclipse of the sun, the longest in 12 centuries, due the following Tuesday.

A Cleveland truck driver narrowly escaped death and damage estimated at more than $5,000 was caused when a truck left South Main street and overturned in flames in the yard at the John A. Abel home at Main and Hill streets.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Jack and Ruford Glenn Good took place in Epworth Methodist church, and Miss Marie M. Cutarelli became the bride of Benjamin F. Banyai in a ceremony read in St. Mary's rectory.

Mrs. Ida Uncapher of North Prospect street went to Cincinnati to attend the national convention of the Degree of Pocahontas.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, June 6, 1927.

Headed for Berlin, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine were forced down at Eisleben, Germany, due to lack of fuel and later made a forced landing at Cottbus, Silesia, because of a broken propeller. They had hopped off from Roosevelt Field, Mineola, N. Y., the previous Saturday on their 4,000-mile plane flight.

The body of Mrs. Clara V. Lippincott Koogler, widow of Dr. M. A. Koogler, who died the previous Saturday at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Donald T. Atkinson at San Antonio, Texas, arrived here. Funeral services were to be held the following day at the Koogler home on East Center street.

Rev. Wylie S. Young, pastor of Fite Memorial Baptist church, was enrolled as a member of the Marion County Ministerial association at the City library.

More than 500 children, ranging in age from 6 to 11, enrolled in daily vacation Bible schools opened in six school buildings in the city.

Mrs. Bertha Wertz of South Prospect street was in New York on a buying trip for the Uhler-Phillips Co.

Movie-Eye View of U. S.

British Writer Gives Her Impression of Us.

C. A. LEJEUNE, British newspaper writer, in an article for the New York Times magazine, gives her vision of the United States, formed after seeing many Hollywood movies:

"The United States of America is a cozy little country consisting of three small states, California, Kentucky and Texas . . . There used to be another state called Georgia, but that was away back in history days . . . The history of America is short and easy to remember. There have been two internal wars: a dull skirmish with the English about tea, which was all right once they got rid of Benedict Arnold, and a really dressy struggle between the North and the South. The North won, and were right, but the South, who lost, were nicer. After that, nothing happened until . . . some people called doughboys went to Europe and won a war: On Dec. 7, 1941, the Japs attacked Pearl Harbor, and some people called GIs had to go out to the Pacific and lick the pants off them . . .

"There have been three Presidents of the United States: George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Theodore Roosevelt. Pardon me, I am wrong; it has lately transpired there was another President called Something Wilson, who was devoted to his family, and liked to stand by the piano, listening to old songs. He was shockingly misunderstood . . ."

"The average family consists of Pop and Mom, Grandma, son and daughter of college age, and Junior, who looks best asleep. Junior is a great one for saying his prayers. He also says Go jump in a pond; G'wan, kiss the guy; Mom, why doesn't Pop come home to us any more? . . .

"The main articles of furniture are the icebox and the telephone . . . The main meal is held in the middle of the night in the kitchen, and consists of a glass of milk and cold chicken from the icebox . . . The fauna of America consists mainly of the horse and the cairn terrier; now and then the discerning eye may detect, in the distance, a stampede of cows. The flora is largely confined to the orchid and the long-stemmed rose. The rose is a peculiarly interesting variety, having extraordinary lasting qualities and no thorns."

Horseplay in Wartime

TO the FBI is given credit that not one case of enemy-directed sabotage was reported in this country during the World War II. What the FBI did discover in running down hundreds of cases of suspected sabotage was that congential clowns and practical jokers were causing as much trouble in American factories as could a corps of trained saboteurs.

Here are some of the antics performed by practical jokers as reported in "The Story of the FBI," just published by E. P. Dutton & Co.

Shoes nailed to the floor; clothes hidden in machinery; screws removed from work benches so that they fell apart when opened, and stench bombs, itching powder and fake infernal machines planted where they would cause the most toruble. The FBI found workmen played catch with nuts and bolts, and sometimes a stray would into delicate machinery. In one plant it was found that workmen were buying soft drinks and spiking them with whisky keeping the pop bottle on their bench for an occasional nip.

The "hot foot" was regularly employed for a laugh by factory clowns and at least one man died when his clothes, impregnated with oil and grease by jokers, caught fire.

Profession of Homemaking

WOMEN whose experience is in homemaking are finding increasing demand for their talents. Social agencies are employing them to handle emergencies—to pinch-hit for absent and incapacitated mothers.

Maud Morlock, consultant on the social service of U. S. Children's Bureau, says: "A mother may need hospital care for a few days, or for weeks or months, but there is no one with whom to leave the children. The father should not stay home from work—though until a homemaker is found he sometimes has to do so.

"Help is not as easy to get from the neighbors in these days of apartment house living. Even in rural areas women who in other years might have been counted on to come in, either have a home to look after, o rthey have a job."

The "professional" homemakers must be able and ready to cook, clean, look after the youngsters and get the man off to work. They are paid regularly for their work and their hours and working conditions are set. In addition(and this, Miss Morlock says, is especially appealing to the women) they are their own bosses on the job and are highly respected and appreciated.

Miss Morlock points out that up to now homemakers' services have been limited generally to families in the low-income group. She insists that families in the middle-income group are often just as hard put in emergencies as those who have no resources.

"It is not a question of money," she says. "It is more a problem of getting someone to come in and take over when the mother has to give up for the time being."

SWALLOWS TAKE OVER

A Matter of Partnership

("Phalanx, winner of the $100,000 Be— after losing the Derby and Preakness, is a partnership horse. Abram S. Hewitt owned and C. V. Whitney the other half."—News ite:

Two notables had split a horse
On which did much depend;
A Whitney owned one half of it—
The rest was Hewitt's end;
"Which end is mine?" "Con" Whitney as
And Hewitt asked the same;
(It was a knotty problem in
A most perplexing game.)

II

"This colt is quite a wondrous steed;
Both ends will work as one,"
Said Hewitt, "We will train it so
Both ends of it will run!"
But one end may be speedier,
Quoth Whitney, showing care;
"The rear-end has more power, for
The motor is back there!"

III

"There's something in that," Hewitt said—
(He's mentally no runt);
"But never did a colt's back end
Get up without the front."
"Your logic is impressive, sighed
"Con" Whitney, with a wink;
"Ye'll train both ends with might and main
To get 'em in the pink."

IV

Thus Phalanx to the races went
And fancy great he caught;
"He'll win the Derby, Preakness and
The Belmont" was the thought;
He phoozled in the Derby and
Late in the Preakness came;
His front end lost the money and
His 'together did the same.

V

"Let's run him sideways," Hewitt said;
"It would be something new
And then I'd feel my end was like
The end assigned to you."...
Alas, it seemed the rules were such
That this could not take place;
They had to run all parts of him—
As in each other race!

VI

In some way Phalanx heard the talk;
It hurt his dignity;
"I'll show 'em that both ends," he said,
"Will work cohesively;
My front-end is conditioned and
My rear fit for the fray—
And both shall share the glory for
They're both in shape today!"

VII

And thus it did turn out because
The colt ran like a deer,
("Con" rooting for the forward end
His partner for the rear!)...
His front-end got off winging and
His rear-end stood the pace....
He ran okay all over and
BOTH ENDS TOOK DOWN THE RACE

Man Out on Bond At Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, O., June 6—Calvin H. Miller, 32, Toledo advertising promotor arrested there and arraigned here before Justice of the Peace W. P. Rowland on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, has been released under $1,000 bond.

Bound over to the grand jury in the justice court, Miller is to appear for preliminary hearing June 11. The charge filed by Walter A. Snyder, of Sycamore, Ohio owner of an eight-horse hitch of pedigreed draft horses, involves the leasing of the horses for six weeks of advertising work for the Pearl Brewing Company. Defendant the Wooden Shoe Brewing Co. Minister; and a brewing company in Indiana.

Snyder charges Miller claimed to have contracts with those companies for the use of the hitch at $175 a day. On the basis of the promised contracts Snyders says he advanced Miller $500, only to learn later he had no contracts for work for the horses.

Miller filed a bankruptcy petition, March 25, in the District Court in Toledo, listing $85,019 liabilities and $8,189 assets. He was recently acquitted of obtaining money under false pretenses in a Bowling Green, O., court.

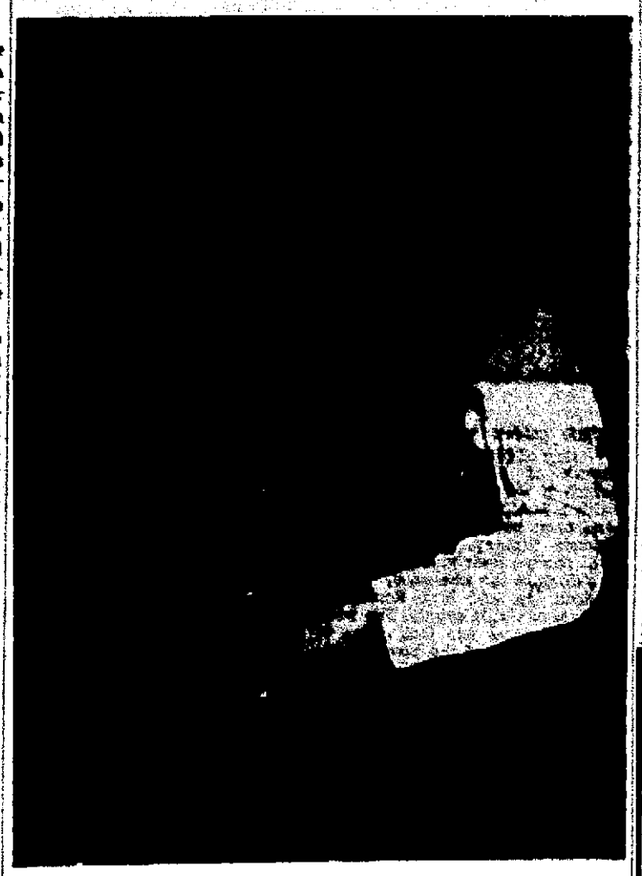
Cardington Man Starts 51st Year As Newspaper Publisher



W. R. Conaway "makes up form" for Cardington Independent.

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON, June 6—W. R. Conaway this week began his fifty-first year as publisher of The Morrow County Independent which is published weekly and is now in its sixty-sixth year.

On June 1, 1897, in connection with W. E. Hull, by whom he had been employed during the summers for five years on the Caledonia Enterprise, he purchased the newspaper from E. E. Neal.

The partnership with Mr. Hull lasted for nearly 12 years, after which he conducted the paper as sole owner until forming the existing partnership with his son, Ward Conaway.

For more than 45 years of the half-century, the Independent office has been in its present location. When purchased by Hull and Conaway The Independent was being published in rooms on the second floor of the Beatty & Chase block in quarters over the present location of Koon's Grocery.

Shortly after 1900 the office was moved to the present location on South Marion street. Since Cardington was served neither by gas or electricity during the day time at that period, the present building was selected for an office because of the light afforded by large windows located on the north side of the building.

Type Set by Hand

During the first ten years of Hull and Conaway's ownership, all type was set by hand. In April, 1906, the firm purchased the first type-setting machine ever used in Morrow county. The machine known as the Junior Linotype was manufactured for weekly newspapers by the Mergenthaler Co., Brooklyn, N. Y. and this machine was the one hundred and first made by the company. Because of the large amount of wire used in holding matrics in the machine it was known as the "wire baby."

The old junior linotype was replaced during World War I by a modern linotype. New type faces have been added to its equipment from time to time and a few weeks ago a body type (in which all news matter is set) was changed to one modern "legibility faces" known as the modern regal with Cairo Bold.

Mr. Conaway's first work in a newspaper office was during his high school days at Caledonia, when he worked part time in the Enterprise shop, his duties included operation of an old Washington handpower newspaper press.

During his 50 years of ownership of the Independent the mechanical equipment has been operated by four different kinds of power.

While located in the Beatty & Chase block, presses were operated by steam power. Later the steam power was replaced by a gasoline engine and followed by a natural gas engine until Cardington had full 24-hour electric service beginning in 1923, when electric motors replaced the gas engine.

Utility Service Limited

When Mr. Conaway came to Cardington the town only had one brick street which was Marion, no gas service, and electricity only from dusk until midnight. However the town was served at that time with two telephone companies. Since electric service ended at midnight, his newspaper experience included taking and handling of electrions returns by kerosene lamp light.

Ownership of every retail establishment in Cardington has changed during the 50 year period. Only one other local business maintains the same name as it did a half-century ago. The Citizens Bank was organized in 1894 by E. M. Willits, cashier, who is still active in the bank.

On Dec. 1, 1937, Mr. Conaway purchased the Tri-County Star at Ashley, which is printed at the Independent office, and in November, 1941, the present partnership bought the Union Register at Mt. Gilead.

Mr. Conaway owned in the late '20's and early '30's the Caledonia Enterprise. Two newspapermen who became nationally known received their early training with the Enterprise or the Caledonia Argus as it was known more than 50 years ago. They were the late President Warren G. Harding, and the late Jack Warwick, famed paragrapher with the Toledo Blade.

4-H FOUNDATION'S COUNTY GOAL SET

$2,000 To Be Raised To Aid Scholarship Plan.

A goal of $2,000 was set as Marion county's share in the 4-H foundation to be set up at Ohio State university when the Marion County 4-H Foundation committee met Thursday night at the Agricultural Extension office in the postoffice building. The foundation will grant scholarships, funds for attending camps and other benefits on interest from a proposed $200,000 fund to be set aside for the club at the university. It will operate as a permanent endowment with the state paying interest on the capital to finance various projects.

At last night's meeting 4-H advisors in each school district were appointed as district committeemen to supervise raising of funds in this area. Several clubs have already held paper drives and planned other money - making projects to aid in raising funds.

The 4-H foundation is similar to other funds which have been set up at Ohio State university under provisions of the state law, it was explained. Many groups have contributed to the state institution, and in turn receive interest which pays for scholarships or research work in various fields.

The county committee, of which Forest Loudenslager is chairman, will have general supervision of the fund raising activities, but local committees in the school districts consisting of the advisors appointed at last night's meeting and others whom they may choose will have responsibility for fund raising projects of individual clubs.

Hot Soups for Summer

ESSENCE OF SHRIMP . . . Unusual and delicious . . .

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

For that one hot dish in a summer meal, soup fills the bill beautifully. It must be a not-too-heavy or hearty soup, but one which is rich in flavor and quick to prepare.

The American Spice Trade Association had a luncheon in New York not long ago, at which one such soup was served, and it was so good that it inspired this article. On every table at the luncheon was a pepper mill to re-emphasize the fact that the flavor of freshly ground pepper is wonderful—and something quite different from the ready-ground variety.

The first of the following soups was served as the first course at the luncheon mentioned.

Essence of Shrimp

2 pounds codfish heads, 6-8 stalks celery with tops, 1 carrot, thinly sliced, 2 leeks, 1 bay leaf, 1 whole clove, ¼ teaspoon dry thyme, ¼ teaspoon saffron, 1 tablespoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 quarts cold water, 1 pound raw shrimp.

Wash codfish heads and place in large soup pot. Trim the celery, saving firm white part of 3 or 4 stalks. Cut remaining part of celery fine and place in soup pot. Add sliced carrot. Slice green part of leek and add to soup pot, saving the white. Add bay leaf and clove. Mix and add thyme, saffron, salt and freshly ground pepper. Add cold water. Bring slowly to boiling, then turn heat low, skim surface and simmer, covered, about 45 minutes.

For garniture:

Cut remaining white parts of celery and leek into match stick pieces. Simmer separately for 3 or 4 minutes with 2 cups of strained broth from the soup pot. Wash and peel the raw shrimp. Slice in julienne fashion and add to the celery and leek. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes.

Strain the broth. Reheat piping hot. Add the garniture and serve at once. (Serves 10.)

Tomato Bouquet

2 cans tomato juice (4 cups), ½ clove garlic, freshly grated pepper and salt to taste, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon curry powder, 2/3 tablespoons shredded watercress, dash of cayenne, 4 tablespoons sour or sweet cream, whipped.

Stick the ½ clove of garlic on a toothpick and drop into the tomato juice. Add lemon juice, salt, pepper and curry powder. Simmer gently 3 to 4 minutes. Remove garlic. Mix shredded watercress with whipped cream and top each serving of piping hot soup with this. (Serves 4.)

Consomme Lucienne

2 cups boiling water, 2 small carrots, 1 small white turnip, 1 small stalk celery, 1 small white onion, ½ teaspoon powdered marjoram, salt, freshly ground pepper, 4 cups chicken broth, minced parsley and paprika.

Scrub carrots well. Cut carrots, turnips, celery into neat, very small cubes. Cut onion fine. Add marjoram, salt, pepper, boiling water. Simmer covered for 5 minutes. Add chicken broth and bring to a boil. Serve at once with a bit of minced parsley and a dash of paprika on top. (Serves 4.)

Upper Sandusky Rail Platform Work Begun

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, June 5—Construction of a 75 foot addition to the brick and concrete platform along the west side of the C. and O. railway in Upper Sandusky had been started today by a Hocking division masonry force under the supervision of J. E. Ballard, of Columbus.

Plans call for the rebuilding of the present platform after the extension is completed and the erection of a post supported roof over a portion of the platform as a weather shelter.

This west platform, across the double tracks from the station, serves both as a passageway for passengers for south bound trains and as runways for the trucks loading mail, baggage and express.

Tentative plans are also being studied by company officials for the remodeling and redecorating of the station here. Proposals being considered include the lowering of the ceilings, installation of a new heating system, seats in the waiting rooms, lights, floor covering and electric clocks.

QUESTION VOTE FRAUD DECISION

3 Judges and U. S. Attorney Quizzed About Basis for Dropping Case.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 6—Senate investigators asked three federal judges and a U. S. attorney today to tell how they reached the conclusion that the government lacked grounds to act against alleged Democratic vote frauds in Kansas City.

The witnesses are District Attorney Sam Wear and Judges Albert L. Reeves, Albert A. Ridge and John Caskie Collet.

Hotly denying that the justice department tried to "whitewash" irregularities in the primary last August, Attorney General Clark told the senators yesterday the judges decided "the evidence was not sufficient."

Truman Candidate Won

In the primary Rep. Roger Slaughter, strongly opposed by President Truman, was defeated for renomination by Enos Axtell. Axtell was beaten in the November election by Albert L. Reeves Jr., Republican nominee and son of the judge.

The justice department last fall looked into reports of fraud in the Democratic primary and Wear decided there was no basis for prosecution. Later the Kansas City Star made its own investigation and—largely on evidence the newspaper produced—a state grand jury has indicted 78 persons on charges of violating the election laws.

Senator Kem (R-Mo) declared at the senate judiciary subcommittee hearing yesterday the justice department failed to make a full inquiry and "there was an effort to whitewash the situation."

Clark flushed as he replied: "It is very unbecoming of you, Senator, to indicate I'd try to whitewash anyone. I've prosecuted many big people including two who were in congress, and big corporations. For you to say it is a whitewash is untrue. I denounce that."

Senator Insists Whitewash

Kem insisted that Alden A. Stockard, a lawyer on his office staff, studied the justice department files and reported the investigation showed "evidence of conspiracy to deprive people of the right to vote."

Clark said the evidence "won't satisfy the justice department." He added:

"They have been over this for months and three federal judges said the evidence was not sufficient."

Both Clark and J. Edgar Hoover, the FBI director, told the committee only a "preliminary" investigation involving interviews with half a dozen witnesses was made before deciding there was no ground for the federal government to act.

Clark said a "full" investigation now has been ordered.

Charles Blevins, 37, of 161 St. Clair street forfeited $25 bond when he failed to appeal in municipal court yesterday to answer a charge of reckless driving. The arrest was made by the state highway patrol on route 4 south of Marion.

JUDGE RULES FIRMS CAN'T CUT OFF GAS

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., June 6—Counsel for the East Ohio Gas Co. today planned to appeal a ruling by a common pleas judge that a residential consumer is entitled to unrestricted use of natural gas.

In a decision expected to affect gas operations throughout Ohio if upheld, Judge ClaudeV. D. Emmons yesterday granted a permanent injunction prohibiting the company from shutting off a customer's natural gas at the street.

The jurist confirmed consumer rights, written into the Akron franchise renewed last fall, in a suit filed by Robert S. Newman. The plaintiff said he installed a gas conversion unit at his home last March, but the firm demanded it be disconnected or a medical certificate be furnished.

Making permanent his temporary order issued three months ago, Judge Emmons ruled, "The franchise provides that gas shall be supplied to Akron and its inhabitants.

"It does not designate only those habitants who are able to furnish medical statements or are building a new home, or who are already heating without gas. It says 'inhabitants'," without qualification.

"The year before the franchise was accepted by the company," he continued," more than 10,000 new gas heating units were installed here. Apparently the gas company knew at the time the franchise was made with the city that it did not intend to perform its terms."

Company Attorney Gillum Doolittle asserted: "Of course, we will appeal" the ruling of Judge Emmons.

LEGISLATURE

senate would exempt contract truckers from paying sales taxes on equipment they bought; authorize Lake Erie island school districts to rent homes for teachers, and increase Akron municipal court jurors' compensation from $1.50 to $3 daily.

Firemen who resign but seek reinstatement within a year would be required to return as beginning firemen regardless of previous rank or seniority under another house proposal approved by the senate.

The house completed passage of legislation increasing workmen's compensation system awards from $21 to $25 a week maximum and allowing up to $200 for treatment of silicosis cases. Board of claims members will get salary boosts of from $3,600 to $4,200 annually under the bill.

Other senate measures passed by the house would allow township and county hospital districts to join with cities in building or enlarging municipal hospitals; permit municipal universities to build or enlarge structures by issuing 35-year bonds, and authorize financial institutions to close on Saturday.

Presents Diamond Class

Albert C. May, Harding principal, presented the diamond anniversary class. Along with veterans returned from the armed forces, he mentioned two others, Robert Marshall and Richard Baldauf, who are now in military service and were unable to be present for commencement. Diplomas were presented by F. C. Robinson, vice president of the board of education, assisted by Mr. Holt.

Seniors crossed the stage, received diplomas and changed tassels on their caps from the left to the right side in the traditional sign of graduation. Afterward they received red roses, the class flower, from James Hill, president, and Iris Eckles, secretary of the junior class.

Following presentation of diplomas the graduates sang their class song led by Patricia Wormell, who wrote the words to the tune of "Till We Meet Again." The recessional was to "March of the Priests" by Mendelssohn played by the orchestra.

Graduates Circle Pavilion

As an impressive close to the exercises graduates formed single file, completely circling the pavilion. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Eldred Johnson, pastor of Central Christian church.

Decorations on the stage were American flags and draped bunting. The front of the platform was banked with peonies, iris, and baskets of red roses. An emergency power unit from the Marion fire department lighted the paths and grounds surrounding the pavilion.

Perfect weather prevailed for the commencement in contrast with heavy rains which have fallen on commencement night several times in recent years.

Alert Ex-Prisoner Of Japan Turns In Former Guard

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 6 — A young Japanese-American, dramatically trapped by an alert ex-GI prisoner, was held without bail today on treason charges, accused of being a wartime foreman in a Japanese prison camp on Honshu island.

Trailed by the federal bureau of investigation for eight months after he was spotted here by the former soldier, Tomoya Kawakita, 25, a native of Calexico, Calif., was arrested late yesterday and immediately arraigned before U. S. Commissioner David B. Head.

Kawakita was ordered held for the federal grand jury which will consider indictment June 11. He appeared near tears as the commissioner told him that treason is punishable by death.

U. S. Attorney James M. Carter, preparing the government's case against the one-time student, declared Kawakita will face the testimony of "close to 100" former American servicemen who were subjected to "unspeakable indignities" on Oeyama camp on Honshu.

None will be more eager to testify than William L. Bruce of Buena Park, Calif., the ex-soldier who saw Kawakita in a Los Angeles department store last October and said he recognized the Nisei as the foreman known as "Kaw-Kida" in the prison camp.

Bruce followed him and jotted down the license number of his car, then reported his discovery to the FBI.

BOUDREAU INJURED IN CLEVELAND DEFEAT

Tribe Manager Out of Lineup with Torn Muscles.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 6—Cleveland's slumping Indians sorely in need of some power at the plate were forced to carry on today without the services of Manager Lou Boudreau—the American league's leading batter

The Tribe pilot will be out of the lineup for several days because of torn back muscles sustained yesterday as the Indians were losing to Washington 3 to 1

Boudreau left the game in the fourth inning after being struck by a ball pitched by Early Wynn He actually injured himself in the third inning when he came up with a sparkling play behind second base to toss out Joe Grace

Manager Lou clouted a double in his other appearance at the plate to boost his average to a neat .363 Jack Conway will sub for the injured manager at the shortstop post.

Wynn tutored the Tribe to six blows and allowed only one Indian to reach third He didn't issue a single walk

Sherry Robertson and Al Evans of Washington found Al Lary's offerings to their liking and blasted the circuit home runs of the year

Before the game Tribe President Bill Veeck was presented with a petition from 100 fans asking removal of the fence but the Tribe's boss intends to keep the barrier, but move it back about 40 feet at the foul lines leaving the maximum centerfield depth unchanged

Reds Sight First Division After Belting Phils Twice

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, June 6 — What a difference a day makes was the story as the Cincinnati Reds took a bow prepared for tomorrow's opener of a four-game series with the Braves.

The Redlegs, who were within spitting distance of the National league cellar before yesterday's twin victory over Philadelphia, are at the top of the second division.

A sweep of the current series found the Reds in Boston's fifth place position.

Ewell Blackwell notched his impressive victory as the Reds shut out the Phillies 5-0 yesterday in the opener of a double-header. The Rhinelanders then pounded on Oscar Judd for 12 hits in the nightcap to win 6-3.

The Reds scored all of their runs in the opening round of the twin game and coasted to victory behind Blackwell's six-hit pitching. Four hits, three Philadelphia errors and a base on balls enabled them to cross the plate five times.

After breaking a 2-2 tie in the eighth on third inning, the Reds never headed. The Phillies chased starter Elmer Riddle in the fifth but Harry Gumbert held them the rest of the way. Eddie Miller's two-run double in the fifth clinched the victory.

The double victory over the Phillies cost the Reds the services of a second baseman, ended a great fielding streak of the Phils'

Emil Verban and sent an umpire to the hospital.

Benny Zientara of the Reds suffered a twisted left leg and a sprain in the seventh inning of the second game when Harry Walker slid into him.

Umpire Jocko Conlan was hit on the collarbone with a foul ball off the bat of Eddie Miller in the third inning of the first game. He was taken to Jefferson hospital for examination.

Verban dropped a throw from Lee Handley in the sixth inning of the second contest. Prior to that Emil had accepted 171 successive chances without a miscue.

Kent Peterson was Manager Johnny Neun's overnight choice to start against the Braves who will use Mort Cooper.

on base. Harsch singled and Sebastian struck out.

Pitcher Geis Single

Joe Jackson, a hitting hurler, then singled to put men on first and second. Edington walked to men to force across a run in the third time and Manager Burhbrink removed John in favor of Ed Witowski. Ed, after working the count to three and two served Charley Moore to ground to Gene Bergan at short. Gene, with a side-retiring double play in sight, juggled the ball long enough to miss the twin killing, but made the forceout at second, with a run scoring on the play. Dalton then flied to Nelson in left to end the agony with the Reds runs on base.

Dalton had replaced Stratter in centerfield when the Dayton centerfielder was tossed out of the game in the seventh by Umpire Haley for throwing his bat at the screen in disgust after striking out.

No-Hit Softball Game Pitched

Guy Lewis of Smitty's Goose Eggs Depot 18-0 in Night League.

Guy Lewis notched himself a no-hitter last night in the Marion Night league.

The snap throw artist pitched for Smitty's Grill who downed Marion Engineer Depot 18 to 0. A righthander, Lewis fanned six men and gave up only one walk. No-hitters are nothing new to Lewis, as last season he turned in several.

Strong support was given him by his teamates led by Max Roseberry and Dale Culver. Roseberry clubbed out three round-trippers and Culver two.

In the other game of the evening Marion Power Shovel Co. downed Shanty Town Bar 10 to 4.

Fritz Walters did his share of the wood work for the M. P. S. team in clouting out three hits, one a homer, in four trips to the plate.

Shanty Town pitcher Penn was big stick man for them as he hit safely three out of three times up.

FUNERAL AT CAREY

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Mary Reinhart, who died Wednesday morning, will be held Saturday at 9:30 a. m. in Our Lady of Consolation Shrine church, Carey, Rev. Ambrose Finnegan officiating. Burial will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery, Frenchtown.

Branch Rickey To Receive Honorary Degree at O.W.U.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, O., June 6—It's Doctor Branch Rickey now, or it will be after June 9, when the President of the Brooklyn Dodgers is slated to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the 103rd annual commencement of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Doctorates, however, are no new thing to Rickey, for twice before he has been so honored. Following his bachelor of literature and bachelor of arts degrees from Ohio Wesleyan in 1904 and 1906, the Dodger head-man-to-be, turned to law and was awarded a J. D. from the University of Michigan in 1911. He was given an LL.D. degree by McKendree in 1928. At one time Rickey was also a member of the board of trustees at Ohio Wesleyan.

His return to the Delaware campus is in the nature of a home-coming, for on Saturday preceding commencement he will pay tribute to retiring football coach George Gauthier at an alumni luncheon. Rickey was chairman of the committee in 1921 that first brought Gauthier to O.W.U. and he's been here ever since.

State Traffic Count Made at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 6—Making a traffic count of movement over state routes 4 and 39, workers from the state highway department were in Bucyrus Wednesday for the first traffic tally since 1935.

Count of traffic south of the Lincoln Highway is also to be made.

Purpose of the count is to determine average traffic on roads for which maintenance funds are allocated by the state.

The count Wednesday showed that 823 vehicles passed over route 4 and 274 used route 39 during an eight hour period from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m.

BRITISH UNCOVER 9 NEW LETTER BOMBS

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 6 — Scotland Yard reported today that nine new letter bombs for Britons had been found in the mails, making a total of 20 discovered since early this week.

Reliable sources said that all 20 of the "murder by mail" letters had been posted in Turin, Italy. Dispatches from Jerusalem, meanwhile, said the so-called Stern gang, Palestine Jewish underground group, had announced that its European branch has been sending the bombs.

Scotland Yard said some of the new bombs were addressed to former cabinet ministers, but refused to name any of them or to say whether Churchill was among them. A Churchill spokesman said the ex-prime minister had no knowledge of any bombs having been sent him.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and his predecessor, Anthony Eden, were among those to whom the earlier dynamite-laden envelopes were mailed. None of the bombs has been exploded, except in police tests which have shown them powerful enough to maim or kill a man.

Officials said the latest letters were brought across the English channel by steamer late last night.

Post office employes, scrutinizing mail from the continent, found them in a single mail bag. Home office explosives expert and Scotland Yard criminal investigation agents removed them and examined them for further clues to the senders.

The new bombs, it was disclosed, came in slightly larger envelopes than those detected earlier. This confirmed Scotland Yard's belief that the bomb senders would disguise their deadly missives in new ways in an effort to foil rigid security checks now being made with descriptions of the original packets as a guide.

New Parking Fines Go On at Bucyrus

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, June 5—Effective this morning Bucyrus' new parking meter regulations providing for a minimum fine of 25 cents for overtime parking in metered areas if paid at police headquarters within the hour, became a part of the city's traffic regulations. The new regulation was adopted by city council recently and the time limit for becoming a law brought it into effect at 8 a. m. today.

City council took up the issue of heavier fines for reckless and drunken drivers at its meeting Tuesday night, Councilman Bruce Sharrock demanding that heavier fines be assessed to discourage the growing offenses. Current customary fines in mayor's court are $5 to $10.

Council again delayed action on the proposed "carnival" bill which as presented at a recent meeting makes circuses, carnivals and other tent shows within the city limits illegal unless written permission of 100 per cent of all residents within a radius of 500 feet has been secured. The bill was turned down as "too drastic" with instructions to the ordinance committee to draft a bill "less drastic."

Oil Fields Boom as "Wildcatters" Move In

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY — Wealthy amateurs have started a new "wildcat boom" in Oklahoma's half-century-old oil fields.

More than 800 wells are being drilled throughout the state by a new crop of investors strange to the oil business — war contractors, brewers, wine dealers professional gamblers and movie stars—all drawn by the lure of discovering fresh pools of "black gold" hidden under the sooner state's crusted acres.

Hal Boyle

"There is more drilling now than at any other period and more money is being spent," said Claude Barrow, oil editor of the Daily Oklahoman here and one of the best-informed men in the industry.

"They are mostly people with big money looking for easy profits. They know little or nothing about oil, and they have had to hire experienced men at ungodly figures to supervise the work."

This wild orgy of free-spending has amazed old-time oil operators. Most are sitting tight waiting for it to slow down.

"They expect to be here years after this spree is over," said Barrow. "The major companies can afford to sit back and buy into anything big that develops."

Bringing in a gusher no longer is a shoestring operation. Getting a well into production may cost anything from $5,000 to $1,000,000 — and you can spend the money and end up with nothing but a hole in the ground.

"Wildcatters" are speculators who drill for oil outside proved areas where it is known to be. They are like Broadway producers backing an expensive stage show with untested talent.

Odds 5 to 1

"In two Oklahoma counties over a three-year period the wildcats brought in one producing well for each five dry holes," said Barrow. "The wildcat average throughout the United States is about one out of seven." Even then the producing well may not turn out enough oil to pay for the cost of the other ventures.

The search for Oklahoma's oil wealth has broken many wildcatters, made multi-millionaires of others.

Since the first oil well was drilled 50 years ago last April, 761 fields have been discovered. They have produced almost 5,500,000,000 barrels of crude oil and paid about $7,000,000,000 to producers and royalty owners.

Betters Gold Rush

That is more than ten times the value of all the gold taken from Alaska and three times the value of the gold produced by California since 1848.

Of Oklahoma's 44,425,000 acres some 37,000,000 are considered potential oil lands. But only 800,000 to 900,000 acres have been proved. Between 1897 and 1942 some 160,516 wells were dug. Only 52,500 were still producing in 1942.

Oil is getting more difficult and more expensive to find. In the 1934 to 1938 period 280 dry holes were dug to locate a major pool. By 1938 to 1940 the dry hole average increased to 700.

Deepest Hole in History

One oil company has gone down 17,711 feet in Caddo county—the deepest man-made hole in history—and still hasn't hit anything but rock and water.

"It'll go to 20,000 feet and cost a million dollars," said one oil man.

The current crop of individual wildcatters now drilling seems to have the capital for an extended splurge. One relaxes by playing nickel pinball machines for $1,000 stakes.

"But they'll be taken," said a veteran oil man. "It's a rough gamble."

INDUSTRIALS MOVE AHEAD IN MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 6—Selected industrials moved ahead narrowly in today's stock market after early irregularity, but failed to attract much of a following.

Rails, oils and some steels were principal beneficiaries of the gains which several pivotals ignored. Many other sections of the list remained in losing territory. Dealings were at a slow pace and price changes were well mixed near the fourth hour.

Higher levels were sought by Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Pacific Land Trust, Caterpillar Tractor, Woolworth (on favorable sales report), American Smelting, Western Union "A," Douglas Aircraft and General Electric. Laggards included American Telephone, Goodyear, Monsanto, Electric Power and Light, J. C. Penney and Air Reduction.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Amos of Cottage street are parents of a son born this morning at City hospital.

• • •

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Todd of 438 North Prospect street have received word of the birth of a daughter last night to their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Todd of Bowling Green.

CORRECTION

A mistake was made in The Star yesterday in the reporting of an accident on Silver street Wednesday night. It was reported that a car driven by James L. Kirby, 61, of 322 Silver street was backing up on Silver street and collided with one driven by Goorly Rhodaback, 53, of Mt. Gilead, which was traveling forward and started to turn from Silver street onto Mary. A check with the police report reveals that circumstances were just the reverse. The Rhodaback car was backing up and the Kirby car was coming off Silver street.

Bing Crosby is pacted to return to ABC starting Sept. 24, and his show will probably remain the costliest on the air, with $70,000 a week spent to plug it and 400 stations being used to broadcast it. Walter Winchell's consistent plugging of the program every time Al Jolson appeared on it was a favorable factor in Sing's ratings . . . The sponsor who lost Frank Sinatra has bought a star-studded show to premiere in September. Talent includes Frank Morgan, Frances Langford and Don Ameche . . . "Oklahoma Roundup," a new summer musical series, gets a Saturday evening spot on CBS starting June 14. LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

"IT wasn't a hard job to do," Mary said, with a reminiscent little smile.

Then she shot a shrewd glance at me.

"Sure you didn't do a bit of softening-up before you sent him in?" she queried.

"If you mean that I mentioned his going to work as usual today, I did not," I told her with mock severity. "But"—I gave her a smile acknowledging her accusation—"I did ask him to humor you in whatever you asked him to do, and I gave him a glowing account of your being much better, only that we did not wish to cross you in any way."

"I'm glad to hear that," she said, with one of her old gamin grins. "And I'm going to lead you and Aunt Katharine a dance with that club in my hands! Incidentally, when are you going to give me those lines of your play?"

"Presently, presently," I said in matter-of-fact tones. "I don't want any interruptions when we get started, and my time won't be my own until Faith has had her breakfast and is started off to school. Then I'll be able to devote my whole attention to you."

"All right," she said resignedly. "I'll be Patient Griselda in a personal appearance, if you'll do something for me right now."

"What is it?" I asked cautiously.

Wants to See Faith

"I want to see Faith for a minute or two," she said. "That doesn't mean I have the welcome mat out for anybody else except you, Aunt Katharine, Uncle Dicky and Noel. I feel awfully mean about not wanting to see my precious step-mamma-in-law or Lina, or Papa Phil. But I just can't—not yet."

"You won't need to see anybody you don't wish to see," I told her. "Indeed, if you were asking to see people, Aunt Katharine and I would have to put up ropes across the door. But I am very sure you may see Faith. She's worrying her small head off about you."

"The darling!" Mary ejaculated fondly, and I looked at my wrist watch.

"Aunt Katharine is with Faith now, watching her shower and dress herself."

"What! That baby?" Mary exclaimed in patient astonishment.

"You forget," I told her, "that it's been almost a year since you've see her. A year is a long time in the life of a youngster her age."

Lost a Year

"Don't I know it!" she said sadly. "I've lost a whole year of seeing her grow, just as I've lost so many other things."

"If you start talking along those lines, you go back to bed, and I know Aunt Katharine will back me up in that decision," I told her severely. "Now, please, lean back and relax. This visit of Faith's depends on Aunt Katharine's permission, you know. If she thinks you're too tired, she'll turn both thumbs down."

"She couldn't be so cruel," she said. "What do you want me to do—shut my eyes?"

"That's a very good idea," I said and she leaned back and obediently closed her eyes.

From beneath my eyelashes, I studied her face, and wondered if I dared hope that the tense lines in it were somewhat relaxed.

Katharine's knock upon the door brought me back from my conjectures, and Mary's eyes flew open.

Poignant Longing

"Please ask her for me," she whispered, and there was poignant longing in her voice. I remembered the love she always has had for Faith, and I hoped Katharine's verdict would be favorable, although I must not try to influence it.

The next instant Katharine had followed her knock into the room—I guessed that Faith was docilely sitting in a chair waiting for one of us to come to her—and was crossing to Mary's chair. She looked her over appraisingly, kissed her forehead and felt her pulse.

"Noel hasn't done you any harm, at any rate," she said. "Do you know that there is somebody else who anxiously craves an audience with your Majesty?"

Mary's face suddenly was illumined.

"Do you mean Faith?" she questioned.

"Nobody else! She's talked of nothing else while she was dressing."

"The little sweetheart!" Mary said fondly. "How soon can you bring her in?"

TAXI PROBLEM SOLVED

VINCENNES, Ind.—Stepped-up arrests failed to halt Vincennes taxicabs which refused to slow down in downtown speed-limit zones. So the city council passed an ordinance requiring all taxicabs to be equipped with governors which would limit their speed to 35 miles an hour.
